

Paragraph On Cow 100 Words

Cows, descendants of the wild aurochs, are vital animals providing meat, milk, leather, and numerous other products essential in daily life. These domesticated bovines, with their four-footed stature, offer various benefits to humans. Their historical lineage from the extinct wild cattle underscores their importance. From their large milk-producing udders to their cloven hooves, cows have evolved to fulfill diverse human needs. Whether it's dairy products like milk, cheese, and butter, or leather goods such as shoes and belts, cows contribute significantly to our livelihoods. Their role as providers reflects their enduring presence in human civilization.
